Chapter 4: Selection of Valuation Methodology

There is no single definition of the term 'Value' that is suitable for all purposes or at all times. The value of a particular asset may vary according to different valuation methodologies that are adopted to ascertain the value for a specific purpose. Valuation of securities is an inexact science. It may sometimes involve a set of judgments and assumptions that may be subject to certain uncertainties. In the section below, Independent Registered Valuer has discussed some of the commonly used valuation methodologies. The valuation methodology to be adopted varies from case to case depending upon different factors affecting valuation. There are a number of methodologies to value companies / businesses using historical and forecast financials of the company.

A typical valuation analysis involves review and analysis of historical financials of the company and broad comparison of the company's forecast financial projections as regards all the significant macro and micro variables like economy and industry growth rate assumptions, inflation, interest and foreign exchange rates and tax rate forecasts. Company's profitability factors (industry competitive factors and company's operating strategies and its competitive position in the industry), economies of scale and optimal capital structure also affects the business valuation of the company.

However, the value is specific to the point in time and may change with the passage of time. In the present case, the objective of the valuation exercise is to value the shares of Lloyds Engineering and Techno .

The valuation exercise is aimed at the assessment of the Fair Value of equity shares /equity linked securities of the company. I am required to arrive at the above valuations based on internationally accepted valuation practices.

As per RICS appraisal Manual, the Fair Value (FV) is defined as 'The price that would be received to sell an asset, or paid to transfer a liability, in an orderly transaction between market participants at the measurement date.

Ind AS (113) as well as IFRS 13 defines fair value as the price that would be received to sell an asset or paid to transfer a liability in an orderly transaction between market participants at the measurement date.

Approach and Methodology

Valuation is not an exact science and is dependent on various factors such as specific nature of business, economic life cycle in which the industry and company is operating, past financial performance of the business, future growth potential of the business, business model, management of the company, relevance of technology in the business model, liquidity of equity and much more. The results of the valuation exercise may vary significantly depending on the basis used, the specific circumstances and the judgment of the valuer. In respect of going concerns, certain valuation techniques have evolved over time and are commonly in vogue.

Various techniques may be used such as Net Asset Value Method, Price-Earnings Multiple Method among others to value. The choice of valuation approach depends on the purpose of valuation and various other business specific and industry specific factors. In some cases, a single valuation technique will be appropriate, whereas in others multiple valuation techniques will be appropriate.

The established methods of valuation and a brief description of each method are provided below.

Method of Valuation for Lloyds Engineering Works Limited

There are several commonly used and accepted methods for determining the value of business/shares of the company, which would be applied to the present case, to the extent relevant and applicable, such as:

- Net Asset value or Breakup value based on the value of the assets and liabilities (NAV).
- Value based on the Profit Earning Capacity Value (PECV) method.
- Value based on Market Price method.

Asset Approach - Net Asset Value Method (NAV)

The Net Asset Value method attempts to measure the value of the net assets of the company against each share. It is computed by taking the net value of the company's assets, subtracting from them the amount of liabilities and preferred shareholders claims, and dividing the remainder amongst the number of equity shares. For an investment company valuation, NAV valuation, based on the asset backing is generally given more importance. Net Asset Value Method is also considered appropriate, where the future cash flows / commercial operations of the valued company cannot be reasonably ascertained or the company is recently incorporated.

The calculation is appended herewith as per Annexure 1.

Valuation under Profit Earning Capacity Method:

This method of valuation presumes the continuity of business and uses the past earnings. For the purpose of the Profit Earning Capacity Value of the shares, the commonly accepted approach is to capitalize average earnings of past at an appropriate rate of capitalization, to arrive at a fair value per share.

While calculating Average Earning Per Share, the Audited Financial Statements for the year ended March 31, 2022, March 31, 2023 and March 31, 2024 is taken into consideration.

The calculation is appended herewith as per Annexure 2.

Market Approach -Comparable Company Multiples Method (CCM)

Market Price Method

In the instant case, the Equity Shares of the Company are listed on BSE Limited (“BSE”) and National Stock Exchange of India Limited (“NSE”) (together referred to as “Stock Exchanges”). The Equity Shares of the Company are frequently traded within the meaning of explanation provided in Regulation 164(5) of Chapter V of the SEBI (ICDR) Regulations, 2018 on BSE and NSE. NSE being the Stock Exchange with higher trading volumes for the said period, has been considered for pricing in compliance with Regulation 164 of Chapter V of SEBI (ICDR) Regulations, 2018. In terms of Regulation 164 of Chapter V of SEBI (ICDR) Regulations, 2018, the minimum price shall not be less than higher of the following:

- a. Rs. 68.55 each the 90 Trading days volume weighted average price of the equity shares of the Company quoted on the Stock Exchange preceding the Relevant Date; or
- b. Rs. 85.15 each the 10 Trading days volume weighted average price of the equity shares of the Company quoted on the Stock Exchange preceding the Relevant Date.

The calculation is appended herewith as per Annexure 3.

Method of Valuation for Techno Industries Private Limited

1. While valuation is not entirely science, a lot of subjectivity is built into while arriving at valuation. An attempt has been made to arrive at a fair value using well accepted valuation techniques ensuring that the users of this report can rely on the same for a relatively objective judgment.

Following have been factored in the approach:

- a. The Current and Macro investment overview.
 - b. The Industry Scenario.
 - c. The Company overview and its strengths and opportunities.
 - d. The Pre money valuation.
2. The purpose of the foregoing valuation is to find out the fair value as per provisions of Companies Act 2013.

In this regard, it is necessary to mention that valuation is more on an art based on the professional experience of the valuer rather than a science based on empirical studies and logics.

3. Valuation methodology: There are broadly three approaches to valuation which need to be considered in any business valuation exercise. A number of business valuation models can thus be constructed that utilize various methods under the broad business valuation approaches. Most treatises and court decisions encourage the valuer to consider more than one method, which must be reconciled with each other to arrive at a value conclusion. Understanding of the internal resources and intellectual capital of the business being valued is as important as the economic, industrial and social environment.

All the three methodologies are discussed below:

- i. Market approach – uses prices and other relevant information generated by market transactions involving identical or comparable (similar) assets, liabilities, or a group of assets and liabilities (e.g., a business).
 - Our comment: Market value method is not applicable in our case as the company's shares are not listed. Comparable companies' multiples method is attached in Annexure 4.
 - ii. Asset or cost approach – reflects the amount that would be required currently to replace the service capacity of an asset (current replacement cost).
 - Our comment: The Calculation of Value per Share is attached in Annexure -5.
 - iii. Income approach – converts future amounts (cash flows or income and expenses) to a single current (discounted) amount, reflecting current market expectations about those future amounts.
 - Our comment: The calculation as per DCF method is attached as Annexure 6.
4. The above guidelines required to value the share of the company as per the Discounted Cash flow ("DCF") method.

Discounted Cash Flows – "DCF"

The DCF method is a strong valuation tool, as it concentrates on cash generation potential of a business. This valuation method is based on the capability of a company to generate cash flows in the future. The free cash flows are projected for a certain number of years and then discounted at a discount rate that reflects a company's cost of capital. DCF analysis is based mainly on the following elements Projection of financial statements (key value driving factors)

Financial Working - Valuation Methodology and Approach

a) Cash Flows:

The projections for next 3 years alongwith Current two Financial Year i.e F.Y 2022-23 and F.Y 2023-24 as provided and certified by the management (projections are based on the present order book of the company, market trends, capability of scalability) enable us to calculate the Cash Accruals on the cardinals of conservative accounting principles.

The detailed workings are enclosed in Annexure-6.

Note: Our comment on Financial Data of the company at this stage are based on a superficial perusal and are subject to validation at the time of detailed Financial and Legal due diligence at a later date by an independent professional entity.

- b) The Terminal Value i.e., the present value of a going concern beyond the period of projection to infinity has been conservatively taken factoring an expected growth rate of 1%.
- c) The Company has following capital structure:

Existing Number of equity shares as on June 30, 2024 are 1,24,99,999 Equity Share of Rs.10/- each. The Discount Factor (also termed as the Discount Rate) is the most challenging task in the mathematical calculation of Valuation.

7	Interest	229	564	335
8	PBT (5-6-7)	1,123	591	(532)

Note No. 1-The rationale for Decrease in Profit before Tax from Rs. 1,123 Lakhs (FY 2023-2024) to Rs. 591 Lakhs (FY 2024-2025) is on account of the following factors:

- A) Decrease in EBIDTA from Rs. 1,556 Lakhs to Rs. 1,451 Lakhs is due to increase in Direct Cost by 3.29% on account of increase in labour cost & other manufacturing cost and also Increase in other expenses primarily on account of increase in employee cost by around 30% due to hiring of additional employees for marketing and future growth. Thus, decrease of Rs. 105 Lakhs in EBITDA in absolute terms compared to FY 2023-2024.
- B) Increase in depreciation by Rs. 92 Lakhs on account of Capital Expenditure estimated in FY 2024-2025.

Note No. 2-The rationale for Increase in Profit before Tax from Rs. 591 Lakhs (FY 2024-2025) to Rs. 2,014 Lakhs (FY 2025-2026) is on account of the following factors:

- A) Increase in EBIDTA from Rs. 1,451 Lakhs to Rs. 3,002 Lakhs primarily on account of Increase in Sales by around 43% in both the divisions of the Company, decrease in Direct Cost by 1.02% compared to FY 2024-2025 on account of efficient use of Raw Material, Labour & other manufacturing expenses and also decrease in Other expenses in Percentage terms on account of apportionment of Fixed Cost over the increased Sales. Thus, an Increase of Rs. 1,551 Lakhs in EBITDA in absolute terms compared to FY 2024-2025.

Note No. 3-The rationale for Increase in Profit before Tax from Rs. 2,014 Lakhs (FY 2025-2026) to Rs. 4,685 Lakhs (FY 2026-2027) is on account of following factors:

- A) Increase in EBIDTA from Rs. 3,002 Lakhs to Rs. 5,493 Lakhs primarily on account of Increase in Sales by around 38% majorly on account of Motors & Pumps divisions, decrease in Direct Cost by 1.34% compared to FY 2025-2026 due to efficient use of Raw Material, Labour & other manufacturing expenses and decrease in Other expenses in Percentage terms on account of apportionment of Fixed Cost over the increased Sales. Annexure 7

Conclusion for Valuation of Techno Industries Private Limited

The ultimate analysis, valuation will have to be arrived at by the exercise of judicious discretion by the valuer and judgment considering all the relevant factors. There will always be several factors, e.g. quality and integrity of the management, present and prospective competition, yield on comparable securities and market sentiment, etc. which are not evident from the face of the balance sheets but which will strongly influence the worth of a share and also the legal provisions commensurate to the purpose of the valuation.

In the instant case, the fair value of equity shares of Techno Industries Private Limited determined through 'Discounting Cash Flow (DCF)' under Income Approach is most appropriate as it considers the operational potential of the company which is the major underlying driver in the assessment of value of the organisation.

NAV is used to evaluate the entry barrier that exists in a business and is considered viable for companies having reached the mature or declining growth cycle and also for property and investment companies having strong asset base. Techno is in a stage of expansion and will take time to reach maturity stage; the same is not suitable and hence not considered.

Techno Industries Private Limited is in the business of manufacturing of Elevators. Additionally, the company has ventured into the business of manufacturing motors and pumps. There is no company in the market who has exposure in both the Elevator and Pump business. For the CCM method, the peers considered are for mature / stable companies, whereas, Techno Industries' motor and pump division is in its nascent stage. Therefore the value under market approach has not been considered.

Hence to give due cognizance to the fair value of equity shares determined under DCF Method, I have assigned 0% weight to value computed under the NAV and CCM methods and have given 100% weight to DCF method under Income approach.
