Trai's SMS limit restored by SC

Indu Bhan
New Delhi, Dec 3

To keep unolicited promotional messages in check, the Supreme Court on Monday stayed the Telecom Disputes Settlement Appellate Tribunal's order that canceled the 200 SMS/day limit imposed by the government last year.

It stayed the telecom tribunal's order quashing the limits imposed by Trai to stop promotional SMSes, which have become a nuisance for mobile users in the country.

The Delhi High Court has also allowed mobile phone users to send unlimited messages, in response to another similar petition filed by NGO Telecom Watchdog. The high court had imposed the restriction of sending only 100 messages per day in September last year. The limit was raised by another 100 messages per SIM in November. While seeking reply from Yuva Sena president Adivya Thakurax, the petitioner before the tribunal, a bench headed by Justice GS Singhvi in interim order had allowed Trai to bring out more measures to deal with this menace. However, it upheld the curb on un-solicited commercial SMSes, saying they infringed the "equally" important right to privacy of "unwilling recipients". The appeal against the HC order is pending before the apex court.

THE SC STAYED THE TELECOM TRIBUNAL'S ORDER QUASHING THE LIMITS IMPOSED BY TRAI TO STOP PROMOTIONAL SMSes.

Airlines draw SC wrath over UDF charges

Indu Bhan

New Delhi, Dec 3: Taking suo motu action against the imposition of user development and conveyance charges by airlines on fliers, the Supreme Court on Monday sought an explanation from the Centre and airport operator Delhi International Airport as to why such burden has been passed on to passengers directly instead of passing it on airlines.

A bench headed by Justice DK Jain asked DIAL and DGCA to provide an affidavit stating that which is the authority levying such charges from fliers and what for. "Prima facie, we are satisfied that you cannot levy such charges... How can airlines collect it... you are befooiling the public. When season starts, you levy sky rates... You (DIAL) have good-goods relations with airlines," Justice Jain said, when DIAL counsel tried to say that airlines and their agents were levying such charges.

Crackdown on availing multiple loans against same property

De Bureau

New Delhi, Dec 3: To prevent incidents of fraud by availing multiple loans against the same property, the Central Registry of Securitisation Asset Reconstruction & Security Interest of India (CERSAI) and Credit Information Bureau (India), abbreviated as CIBIL, have decided to create a link between their websites. This will enable the lender to view at one go the borrower's credit score and the encumbrance status of the property offered as collateral.

Nearly 800 banks, financial institutions and housing finance companies have registered themselves with CERSAI and are filing the details of the mortgages accepted by them, depositing title deeds. CERSAI has a database of more than 75 lakh records of equitable mortgages. Before accepting any title deed for mortgage, banks can look up the CERSAI database to ensure that there is no existing mortgage/loan against the property. R

Verma, CMD, National Housing Bank, said the information that lenders get after the synchronisation of the websites will act as a risk mitigant for the industry. M V Naik, chairman, CIBIL, said that gathering information about borrowers and security was expensive and the move will boost credit penetration.
