OGPL sells stake in Sri Lanka Wind Energy Project

Orient Green Power Company Limited (OGPL), the leading independent renewable energy-based power generation company in India has sold its entire stake in Powergen Lanka (Private) Limited to Windforce (Private) Limited, Colombo (Windforce). Apart from purchasing a 90% stake from OGPL, Windforce has purchased the remaining 10% stake held by Minority shareholders as well.

OGPL had entered into a Joint Venture (JV) in 2010-2011 and acquired 90% stake in Powergen which became a subsidiary of OGPL w.e.f. 11th October 2010 for setting up a 10.5 MW wind project.

The decision to divest was approved by the Investment Committee of the Board since the company would continue to focus enhancing its business in India, where it sees multiple opportunities given current size and development potential.

Powergen has therefore ceased to be a subsidiary of OGPL with effect from 16th July 2012.

OGPL intends to deploy part of the sales proceeds in further development of its existing assets in India, while the balance will be used for repayment of its debt, thus strengthening its financial situation.
