GLOBAL OPPORTUNITIES

- China is expected to vacate nearly $100 billion of global trade space over the next 5-6 years due to:
  - Rising labour costs, appreciating currency, energy costs and focus on domestic market
  - Countries including India, Vietnam, Bangladesh and Sri Lanka potential gainers
- Cotton consumption is expected to fall from the current 40% of the global fiber consumption, to nearly 25%, vacating space for MMF.
- In India, Cotton consumption represents around 60% of the total fiber consumption. However, due to some factors, such as frequent fluctuation in cotton prices and push by global brands towards polyester filament, Man Made Fibre is gaining momentum.
- India accounts for less than 0.5% of the global trade of MMF fibres-based textile and apparel products which indicate huge opportunity.
  - •In domestic market too, preference for apparel made from MMF, is fast changing, in the ladies wear, active wear, kids wear and uniforms, automotive furnishings, protective and medical applications, etc
