Re-arrest Hafiz or face repercussions, US warns Pak

New Delhi, Nov 26: Stepping up the heat on Pakistan, the US today sought immediate re-arrest and prosecution of LeT founder Hafiz Saeed and threatened of an adverse impact on ties if Islamabad failed to act against the mastermind of the 26/11 Mumbai massacre. After Saeed's release from house arrest yesterday, the US State Department had asked Pakistan to re-arrest and try him for heinous crimes. If Pakistan does not take action to lawfully detain Saeed and charge him for his crimes, its inaction will have repercussions for bilateral relations and for Pakistan's global reputation," the White House said.

The White House, in its latest statement, said there was a "clear international consensus regarding Saeed's culpability" in the 2008 Mumbai attacks that left 166 persons, including six American nationals, dead. "Saeed's release sends a troubling message about Pakistan's commitment to combating terrorism... If Pakistan does not detain Saeed and charge him, its inaction will have repercussions for bilateral ties and for Pakistan's global reputation," it said. Pakistan, meanwhile, has justified the release.

India has said his being freed proves that Pakistan is not serious about punishing terrorists. "India, as indeed the entire international community, is outraged that a self-confessed and UN proscribed terrorist is being allowed to walk free and continue with his evil agenda," Foreign Ministry spokesperson Raveesh Kumar said.

US said that Hafiz Saeed must be arrested

Trump hits out at CNN

Washington, Nov 26: US President Donald Trump has hit out at CNN International the global broadcast wing of popular CNN alleging that the news channel does not portray the correct picture of his administration.

In a lengthy tweet, Trump yesterday alleged that CNN represents United States to the world very poorly.

Fox News, he said, is "MUCH more important" in the United States than CNN, but outside of the US, "CNN International is still a major source of (Fake) news." Trump is spending his Thanksgiving weekend in Mar-a-Lago in Florida.

"They (CNN International) represent our Nation to the WORLD very poorly. The outside world does not see the truth from them!" said Trump, who has been critical of several mainstream American media outlets, including The New York Times, CNN, The Washington Post.

The CNN was quick to respond. "It's not CNN's job to represent the US to the world. That's yours. Our job is to report the news," the public relations account of the channel tweeted.

Soon thereafter several of CNN's top journalists came to the defence of their colleagues in their international wing.

Kennedy Center gets $1 mn for Indian Fund to promote culture

Washington, Nov 26: The prestigious Kennedy Center has received $ one million seed money grant to create an 'Indian Fund' to facilitate a series of Indian cultural performances over the next several years.

Well known Indian American philanthropist couple -- Ranvir and Adarsh Trehan -- recently made the donation in this regard to establish the India Fund at the Kennedy Center, a top American center for performing arts.

"The India Fund will exclusively be used to create and present at the Kennedy Center performing arts, artistic exhibits and festivals showcasing the history, traditions, literature, music, dance and culture of India," Ranvir told ethnic India Abroad newspaper in an interview.

The intent of the India Fund is to be "country focused", he told the weekly, adding the programming is intended to "utilise" established or emerging artists, singers, musicians or other performers or performance creators who are either citizens of India or whose ancestry is from India.

"There is a need and desire for sustained India programming at the Kennedy Center for many years to come and I see this as a broad based effort by individuals both in the Indian-American community and others interested in Indian culture from foundations and MNCs," Ranvir said.

He said, "The result maybe several events every year or even a mini-festival or a substantial festival like Maximum India. The Kennedy Center may choose to cooperate with performing arts centres in other cities on this effort." The Indian Ambassador to the US, Navtej Sarna, called the Trehans' initiative "the encouragement that we need".

"The Indian arts are at a very interesting phase...It surprises me constantly because we are all used to a certain vision of Indian culture, but if you now put on a new film or you see a new dance performance, you are always surprised because people are always crossing borders in different directions," Sarna said.

Cairo President vows to avenge massacre of martyrs by terrorists

Cairo, Nov.26: Egypt's President Abdel Fattah al-Sisi has vowed to respond forcefully after attackers killed at least 235 worshippers in a packed mosque in restive North Sinai province, the country's deadliest attack in recent memory.

Al-Sisi declared three days of mourning which began on Saturday, the day after the gun and bomb assault on the Rawda mosque, roughly 40 kilometres (25 miles) west of the North Sinai capital of El-Arish.

In a televised speech the president pledged to "respond with brutal force", adding that "the army and police will avenge our martyrs and return security and stability with force in the coming short period".

Several hours later Egyptian air force jets destroyed vehicles used in the attack and "terrorist" locations where weapons and ammunition were stocked, an army spokesman said.

Witnesses said assailants had surrounded the mosque with all-terrain vehicles and detonated a bomb.

They then mowed down panicked worshippers as they tried to flee and used congregants' vehicles they had set alight to block routes to the mosque.

Belarus nuke power plans worries EU

Ostrovets, Nov 26: Thirty years after the Chernobyl disaster spewed radioactive clouds into the sky and sent shockwaves across Europe, Belarus is building a nuclear reactor on the doorstep of the EU despite fears in neighbouring Lithuania.

Construction of the facility, located in the northwestern Belarusian town of Ostrovets only around 20 kilometres from the Lithuanian border, is entering its final stages. Its two reactors, each with a capacity of 1,200 megawatts, will be operational from 2019 and 2020 respectively.

The project, approved by strongman Alexander

Lukashenko's government in 2008 and spearheaded by the Russian state energy corporation Rosatom, is being nearly completely financed by Moscow with a USD 10-billion loan.

The construction of the reactor initially revived bad memories in a country that had a quarter of its territory covered with radiation from the 1986 explosion at the Soviet-era plant in Chernobyl, in present-day Ukraine.

"When we heard that a plant was being built literally outside our windows, we were scared," said Nina Rybik, a writer who was one of tens of thousands evacuated from contaminated zones 30 years ago. "But then the fear passed: we were told that advanced technology is being employed to build the station and that every single thing is being controlled," she told AFP. She said that even those who had gathered signatures against the construction of the plant were now trying to find work there.

As worries about nuclear safety had been magnified by the 2011 Fukushima disaster in Japan, the local authorities and the Russian contractor actively worked to reassure the nearby population.

Seven dead after alleged drug dealers clash in Rio port

Sao Paulo, Nov 26: Seven people have been found dead in Rio de Janeiro's port after what police said was a deadly clash among suspected drug dealers.

Military Police arrested 13 people and seized 14 guns, grenades and ammunition, they said.

Suspects were taken to a detention center while police rolled out in force in the area where it happened, called Complexo do Caju.

The suspects were involved in a shootout among themselves, military police said, adding that city police would determine who was firing on whom.

Violent crime is a major issue in Brazil, and especially in Rio, the former Olympic and World Cup host city.

Army called in to quell violence in Islamabad

Protestors demand minister's sack; 10 dead, 200 hurt in clashes

Islamabad, Nov.26: The Pakistan government today called in the army after clashes broke out here when police and paramilitary forces cracked down on protesters from hardline religious groups who were blocking a key highway to the capital, leaving 10 dead and over 250 injured.

Protestors were demanding sacking of Law Minister Zahid Hamid over changes in a law related to the Khatm-i-Nabuwat (finality of prophethood) oath in the Elections Act 2017.

They alleged the action undermined Islamic beliefs and linked it to blasphemy. The government has already amended the law and restored the original oath but the hardline clerics refused to call of the protests until the minister is sacked.

The army would be deployed for an indefinite period to maintain peace in Islamabad, according to a notification issued by the interior ministry. The development came hours after Army Chief General Qamar Javed Bajwa spoke to Prime Minister Shahid Khaqan Abbasi over the telephone and discussed the security situation.

The government also ordered suspension of private TV channels and blocked popular social media sites as police and paramilitary personnel fought pitched battles with activists of Tehreek-i-Khatm-i-Nabuwat, Tehreek-i-Labaik Ya Rasool Allah (TLY) and Sunni Tehreek Pakistan (ST) who torched vehicles and attacked houses of political leaders.

However, the protesters regrouped again and continued their siege of the capital that started about three weeks ago. The siege played havoc with the over half-a-million commuters who daily travel between Islamabad and Rawalpindi.

The government was reluctant to use force, but launched the operation after the Islamabad High Court yesterday issued contempt of court notice against Interior Minister Ahsan Iqbal for failing to implement orders to clear the roads.
