GABON celebrating 57 Years of Independence

Make Gabon your next investment destination

UNCTAD report highlights features that have made the African nation an FDI hotspot

SITUATED in Central Africa, Gabon is the gateway to a consumer market that is very fast and in size. This very fact has made investors explore the opportunities, the lands and waters here. The 5.2 million hectares of arable land and availability of immense natural resources such as natural gas, potentially packed mining sites, and abundant manganese (Gabon is the world's third-largest producer of high-grade manganese) are only some of the attractions of this country. And to top it all, this tropical rain forest region has an ecosystem that offers natural beauty and verdure that one would definitely not want to give a miss.

Development in Gabon does not happen to the exclusion of respect for its special biodiversity. Its virgin coastline arena is a habitat of mysteries unto itself and one that needs to be divided into.

Being a strategic location for accessing the huge markets on the African continent, there is political and social balance in the nation, a lynchpin to flourishing businesses anywhere. The people here are a multi-ethnic consortium of 50 vibrant local cultures welcoming all and sundry to the country.

GABON FOREST ... home of Okoumé
Boasting the second highest forestry potential in Africa, Gabon's forests cover 22.8 million hectares, i.e. 88% of the country's land surface. The tropical forest offers enormous possibilities with reserves of 400 million metres of exploitable timber. Until 2010, i.e. before the ban on export of raw logs, Gabon was the largest exporter of raw wood in the region, and its sales represent 20% of Africa's raw wood exports. Gabon's reserves of exploitable timber include 130 million cubic metres of Okoumé. The other woods are Iroko, Beli, Ovanguel, Dabema, Sapelli, Sipo, Acacia, Kossipo, Andoung, Gheombi, Tali, Padouk, Debetou, Okan, Azobe, Moungui and Belinga.

A new forest law has come into force that emphasises Sustainable Forest Management (SFM) as the overall approach

Gabonese Republic is aiming to turn Gabon into a world leader in certified tropical timber production through an industrial strategy aimed at sustainably managing timber stocks and promoting secondary and tertiary processing.

In forestry, Gabon has a low deforestation rate, forests rich in valuable timber species and among the best prospects for a healthy and sustainable timber industry. The timber industry is already the largest private sector employer, employing 28% of the working population, and represents an extremely significant growth potential.

OKOUMÉ
Gabon supplies 90% of the world's Okoumé, known worldwide for the production of plywood. Aucoumeaklaineana (Aongou), Gabon, or Okoumé is a medium-sized hardwood tree growing to 30-40 m with a trunk diameter in the range of 1 to 2.5 metres. Its attractive appearance means that it is often used decoratively as the top surface veneer in panelling and furniture or in solid form in items such as boxes for cigars or other high value goods. Widely recognised as one of the world's best materials for rotary cut veneers, Okoumé timber is easy to work and is as suitable for the manufacture of furniture as for interior joinery.

GABON SPECIAL ECONOMIC ZONE (GSEZ) ... a competitive business environment
In the last decade, African countries have promoted the idea of processing of natural resources within their jurisdiction itself so as to generate employment and give a boost to their economies. With the same strategy, Gabonese Republic banned exports of raw timber in 2010. Subsequently, the Gabonese Republic embarked on a journey to provide an amenable ecosystem and infrastructure to facilitate the processing of timber and other natural resources within Gabon. Towards the same end, the Gabonese Republic, in partnership with Olam International Ltd, developed a special economic zone in 2010 which is spread over 1126 ha and located at Nkok

Africa is opening up to investments and Gabon, politically and economically one of the most stable countries in the continent, has clearly taken the lead in attracting investors by doling out a number of fiscal and non-fiscal incentives. The Gabon Special Economic Zone has emerged as Africa's manufacturing hub and entrepreneurs from across the globe are welcome to benefit from the business opportunities unlocked by it.

(20 km from the capital city of Libreville).

Gabon SEZ ... as of today
The Gabon SEZ has 120 customers and foreign direct investment expected is worth more than $1.7 bn. The investors who have invested so far are from 15 nationalities; of these, 40 are from India. The industries making the SEZ as their base are mainly those into wood processing (saw mill, veneer and plywood), ferro-alloys, construction materials, pharmaceuticals, food processing, telecom equipment, waste & metal recycling and warehousing. As of today, 41 companies are already into production and another 29 companies are in different stages of construction.
