Lenovo to raise India mobile output by up to 10 times

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
New Delhi, October 16

PC AND MOBILE maker Lenovo plans to ramp up its smartphone production capacity up to 1 million units per month in 2019, a top official of the company said on Tuesday.

"We make mobile phones in India at our partners factory. At present we have production capacity of 100,000 per month which we plan to increase in the range of 500,000 to 1 million units per month by the end of 2019," Lenovo Group vice president Edward Chang said.

The capacity expansion does not include volume of Motorola phones — a brand which is owned by Lenovo.

The company has entered into an exclusive partnership with e-commerce platform Flipkart to sell its phone in India.

The company launched three smartphones in sub-₹10,000 price segment - Lenovo K9 for ₹8,999 and two models of Lenovo A5 for ₹5,999 and ₹6,999 a unit at an event on Tuesday.

"We have partnered exclusively with Flipkart because the share of online and offline market will be equal in India by 2020. This means it is 60-70 million units business opportunity every year," Chang said.

Lenovo with its another brand Motorola was once among the top three smartphone sellers in India. Its share, however, slipped to 6% in the last quarter of 2017 from 9% in the first quarter of 2017.

Chang said that the company now wants to focus on brand experience rather than market share.

"We are now looking to move towards Smart Internet-of-things. Lenovo will combine PC portfolio with smartphone and some wearable for smart IoT. In the first quarter of 2019 we will bring our flagship phone in India. We are in discussion with Flipkart to customise it for Indian market," he said.

IITs dominate first-ever Indian university rankings

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

THE INDIAN INSTITUTES of Technology (IITs) dominate

university rankings

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
London, October 16

THE INDIAN INSTITUTES of Technology (IITs) dominate the first-ever standalone ranking of India's higher education institutions released by a UK-headquartered think tank on Monday.

IIT Bombay tops the 'QS India University Rankings', with IITs Madras (3), Delhi (4), Kharagpur (5), Kanpur (6), Roorkee (9) and Guwahati (10) grabbing seven of the top 10 slots.

Indian Institute of Science (IISc) in Bangalore comes in at second, with University of Hyderabad and University of Delhi among the others making a top-10 mark at seventh and eighth respectively in the list released by QS Quacquarelli Symonds.

"This inaugural table, which is based on the same indicators of its parent BRICS rankings, evaluates the Indian institutions through independent and international lenses," said Ben Sowter, Research director at QS.

"The results reveal that research productivity at leading Indian institutions is increasing and the impact of such research is gradually rising. They also enjoy a good standing with employers while they achieve less recognition with their international academic peers, perhaps suggesting the need to intensify regional and global collaborations," he said.

QS Quacquarelli Symonds describes itself as a global higher education (HE) think tank responsible for the world's most-consulted world university rankings. Its first-ever Indian edition of the rankings is designed to offer an independent analysis of the performance of Indian institutions.
