MEDIA RELEASE

15th February 2018

Adani Welcomes Federal Court Decision

We welcome today's decision by the Federal Court as it represents an important milestone in the development of the Carmichael Project and paves the way for the granting of interests in land pursuant to the agreed terms of the ILUA.

We recognise the Traditional Owners of the land, including the Wangan and Jagalingou people.

We have listened to and worked closely with traditional owners over many years to agree the terms of the Indigenous Land Use Agreement (ILUA) and to ensure the Carmichael Project will deliver jobs, training and business opportunities for traditional owners.

Adani respects the strength and leadership of the Wangan and Jagalingou people and their long-term vision to create economic opportunities for their people.

The timely delivery of the Carmichael Project is a critical part of that vision.

Our Carmichael Project has committed to an Indigenous employment target of 7.5%, $250 million for indigenous business development and contracting, and a $7.5 million Indigenous training package that includes a target of 10% Indigenous trainees.
