Trump to play golf as he preps for summit amid Russian election meddling claims

Trump arrives in Scotland amid protests in UK, to meet Putin on Monday in Helsinki; questions why Obama didn't act on Russian meddling claims

REUTERS
Turnberry/Glasgow
July 14

US PRESIDENT DONALD Trump said on Saturday he hoped to play golf at his course in Scotland ahead of a summit with Kremlin chief Vladimir Putin that could be overshadowed by accusations that Russians meddled in the US 2016 election.

In an uproarious trip to Europe, Trump harangued members of the NATO military alliance, scolded Germany for its dependence on Russian energy and shocked Britain by publicly criticising Prime Minister Theresa May's Brexit strategy. Trump apologised to May for the furore over his withering public critique, blaming "fake news" and promising instead a bilateral trade agreement with Britain after it leaves the European Union in March. While Trump took tea with Queen Elizabeth, a US federal grand jury charged 12 Russian intelligence officers with stealing data from the campaign of Democratic presidential candidate Hillary Clinton.

Trump has repeatedly said the investigation into suspected Russian interference in the 2016 US election — which he casts as a "rigged witch hunt" — makes it hard for him to do substantive deals with Moscow.

After meeting the queen at Windsor Castle, Trump headed to Scotland, where his mother, Mary Anne, was born and where he owns a golf course, before his meeting in Helsinki with Putin.

"Will be at Trump Turnberry for two days of meetings, calls and hopefully, some golf — my primary form of exercise!" Trump said on Twitter. "The weather is beautiful, and this place is incredible! Tomorrow I go to Helsinki for a Monday meeting with Vladimir Putin."

While at his Turnberry course on Friday evening, an activist for the Greenpeace environmental campaign

group swooped on a powered parachute within a few hundred yards of the president as he stood outside the golf course's hotel.

Trump moved calmly inside as the parachute approached, surrounded by his security detail. British police said they were trying to trace the pilot.

After tens of thousands of people marched peacefully against Trump in central London, more protests are planned on Saturday. A blimp depicting Trump as an orange, snarling nappy-wearing baby was due to be raised at a park in the Scottish capital. "I'm here as a quiet protestor to say: I really don't want this man in our country," said Graham Creelman, 70, who joined a small protest on the beach beside the Turnberry golf course.

"The government needs to take a stand against appalling attitudes and appalling behaviour, and we're not doing it," British trade secretary Liam Fox said anti-Trump protesters were an embarrassment to themselves as they had shown bad manners to the leader of the free world.

Around 100 supporters of Trump, some wearing "Make Britain Great Again" hats, expressed their admiration for the president opposite the U.S. embassy in London.

Trump and Putin, who control the world's two biggest nuclear arsenals, are due to meet in the Finnish capital, a venue that evokes memories of Cold War showdowns between the Soviet Union and the United States.

Trump, a 72-year-old former New York real estate developer who prides his own dealmaking skills, and Putin, a 65-year-old former KGB spy and judo black belt, are due to have some time alone at the summit.

In the most detailed US accusation to date that Moscow meddled in the presidential election, a federal grand jury said Russian military intelligence agency officers covertly monitored computers of Clinton's campaign committees, and stole large amounts of data.

The charges shine an even greater spotlight on Trump's treatment of Putin, who has repeatedly denied Russia sought to intervene or skew the US election that Donald Trump, a Republican, unexpectedly won.

Trump questioned why Barack Obama had not acted on claims of Russian meddling if the FBI had informed the then president ahead of the 2016 election. He also asked where the Democratic National Committee server now was.

"Why didn't the FBI take possession of it? Deep State?" Trump asked on Twitter. When asked at a news conference on Friday whether he would tell Putin to stay out of US elections, Donald Trump said "yes."

The president also indicated he did not expect much progress on the issue. "I will absolutely bring that up," Trump told reporters. "I don't think you'll have any 'Gee, I did it. I did it. You got me.'"

EU takes anti-Trump trade show to leaders in China and Japan

European Council president Donald Tusk

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
Brussels, July 14

THE EUROPEAN UNION'S top officials will meet the leaders of China and Japan next week to boost ties in the face of fears that US President Donald Trump will spark an all-out global trade war.

The trip by EU council president Donald Tusk and Commission head Jean-Claude Juncker includes the signing of a free trade deal with Japan, which was moved from Brussels last week because Japanese premier Shinzo Abe was dealing with deadly floods at home.

Their Asian tour comes as the EU — which, with 28 countries and 500 million people is the world's biggest single market — tries to forge alliances in the face of the protectionism of Trump's "America First" administration. European Commission spokesman Margaritis Schinas said the "landmark" Japan deal was "the biggest ever negotiated by the European Union."

"This agreement will create an open trade zone covering nearly a third of the world's GDP," Schinas added.

In China on Monday, the two leaders will meet with President Xi Jinping and Premier Li Keqiang to discuss their shared tensions with Washington, having both recently announced new tariffs on US goods in retaliation for measures imposed by Trump. They are expected to reaffirm their support for the rules-based international order, including the World Trade Organization, which faces unprecedented criticism from Trump's administration.

The leaders will also discuss climate change — another area on which the EU is in disagreement with Trump after he pulled out of the Paris climate deal — and nuclear issues in North Korea and Iran, Schinas said. But the EU and China will have to smooth over existing differences over Beijing's own restrictive market practices including the "dumping" of cheap Chinese imports, especially steel. Some of those concerns are shared by Washington. Schinas confirmed that Juncker would stick to his "very demanding agenda".

Africa's richest man Aliko signs $650-m loan for oil refinery

Aliko Dangote

REUTERS
Abuja, July 14

AFRICA'S RICHEST MAN, Aliko Dangote, has signed a $650 million loan facility with the African Export-Import Bank (Afreximbank) for his oil refinery project in Nigeria.

The seven-year term loan would attract a moratorium of five years, according to facility terms read out during the signing. Cairo-based Africa's trade bank also signed a $750 million facility with Nigeria's development bank, the Bank of Industry. Reuters witnessed the signing of both loans on Saturday.

Dangote Group executive director Devakumar Edwin said last week that the oil refinery would cost around $10 billion and should be completed by December 2019. He said the company would borrow $3.3 billion for the project, arranged by Standard Chartered Bank. The remainder will be funded by equity and through export agencies.

Dangote built his fortune on cement and now has interests in flour milling, agriculture and real estate. He is also building the world's largest single oil refinery and also expanding into fertiliser, aiming to address long-standing problems in Nigeria's energy markets. The refinery and petrochemical complex is located on 25,000 hectares of swampy land with a jetty to ferry products by sea within Nigeria and abroad including an undersea pipeline to transport gas. It would account for half of Dangote's sprawling assets when it is finished next year.

He intends to process different grades of crude to meet local demand for refined petroleum products and also target export markets abroad. Afraximbank, celebrating its 25 years of operation this year, aims to foster intra-African trade through the creation of a payment platform to ease settlement and currency risks.

China's stock exchanges rule out expanding connect plan

REUTERS
Shanghai, July 14

CHINA'S STOCK EXCHANGES said on Saturday they would not expand their stock connect scheme with Hong Kong to foreign firms, companies with different voting rights structures and so-called "stapled" securities.

The exchanges were responding to a move in May to include the three types of securities in Hong Kong's Hang Seng Composite Index starting from the third quarter of this year.

The Shanghai stock exchange said in a statement that it reached the decision after consulting with domestic brokerages.

Pillars displaying 'China Dream' and 'One Belt, One Road' foreign policy in Beijing

"Most of the investors expressed a lack of understanding of these new types of securities," the stock exchange said. Domestic investors do not fully understand the concept of "stapled" securities and had not completely grasped the operations and financial systems of foreign companies, it said.

"These types of securities need to wait until they have reached a certain quantity and a market operation basis

Stock exchanges were responding to a move in May to include the three types of securities in Hong Kong's Hang Seng Composite Index starting from the third quarter of this year. Shanghai stock exchange reached the decision after consulting domestic brokerages before they can be considered for the participation of mainland investors," the stock exchange added.

"Stapled" securities are formed when two or more securities are contractually bound together to form a single unit that cannot be bought or sold separately.

The decision not to include the three types of firms means that mainland investors will not be able to invest in Xiaomi Corp, which made its debut in Hong Kong last week.

The stock connect scheme links mainland markets in Shanghai and Shenzhen with the one in Hong Kong.

There are currently 268 stocks listed on the Shanghai-Hong Kong stock connect scheme, and 417 on the Shenzhen-Hong Kong scheme.

Transactions via the stock connects reached an accumulated total of 11.67 trillion yuan ($1.74 trillion) by the end of June, the Shanghai exchange said.

Aurobindo acquires Apotex biz in Europe

The acquisition includes a portfolio of over 200 prescription drugs (Rx) and 88 OTC products and an additional pipeline of over 20 products that are expected to be launched over the next two years, Aurobindo said.

The Indian firm and Apotex will enter into a transitional manufacturing and supply arrangement to support the ongoing growth plans of these businesses, the statement said.

"The acquisition announced today is in line with our strategy to grow and diversify our business in Europe. Acquiring Apotex' businesses in these key five countries will allow us to further expand our product offering, including OTC medicines in the Netherlands, and considerably strengthen our position in Eastern Europe," Aurobindo SVP of European operations V Muralidharan said.

Aurobindo has been expanding its presence in Europe since 2006 across several key markets. In 2014, it had acquired Actavis' commercial operations in seven Western European countries.

Last year it acquired Portugal-based Generis Pharmaceutica. The Hyderabad-based company currently has presence in nine European countries.

No takers for IRCTC's e-bedroll

The official added that restricted availability of the service at only a few stations is due to logistical requirements.

Indian Railways (IR) arm IRCTC provides two variants of the takeaway bedrolls. The first comprises two bed-sheets and a pillow for ₹140, and the second includes a travel blanket for ₹140. Passengers with confirmed tickets bought through any mode — online or counter sales — can log on to IRCTC's website and book a bedroll in advance. The advance booking window for bedrolls opens 60 days prior to the journey date and remains open five hours before the start of the journey.

Officials believe one reason for the service not taking off is the low quality of the bedrolls. This is perhaps the reason that IR, which was toying with the idea of emulating the service, has still not launched the offering.

The transporter was looking to source pure cotton bed kits from the Khadi and Village Industries Commission (KVIC) and offer them to passengers travelling in its air-conditioned sleeper coaches at a nominal ₹250 per kit.

The kits were to comprise a towel, a single sheet, a double sheet and a pillow cover that passengers could take home after the journey. The concept of takeaway bed kits and sourcing these from KVIC was mooted by railway minister Piyush Goyal during a meeting in October 2017.

Meanwhile, IR is putting in efforts to improve the quality of blankets provided on trains.

"Earlier the washing cycle (for blankets) was once in two months, which has been increased to at least once a month.

Eventually, it will be once in a fortnight. However, the latter plan will require more logistical efficiency as blankets are heavy to handle," said the railway official.

Sharif, Maryam get 'B' class facilities in jail

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
Islamabad, July 14

PAKISTAN'S FORMER PRIME minister Nawaz Sharif and his daughter Maryam have spent their first night in the high-security Adiala Jail in Rawalpindi, where the two VIP convicts were provided "B" class facilities, media reports said Saturday, a day after their arrest.

The National Accountability Bureau officials took Sharif, 68, and Maryam, 44, into custody in the Avenfield case, shortly after their arrival at Lahore airport from London via Abu Dhabi. They were flown to Islamabad on a special aircraft and then were taken to the Adiala Jail in separate armoured personnel carriers escorted by police convoys.

The authorities, according to new plan, have decided to keep the former prime minister and his daughter in the Adiala jail in the garrison city where they have been provided 'B' class facilities, The News reported.

According to a notification issued by the Islamabad administration, they have declared a rest house at the Sihala Police Training College in the capital as a sub-jail to keep the two figures, with immediate effect and until further orders.

However, Geo News quoting sources reported that authorities have decided to keep them at the Adiala Jail for now. A team of doctors, in the presence of Islamabad magistrate and senior police officials at Adiala jail, conducted the medical examination of Sharif and his daughter Maryam and declared them fit.

Meanwhile, the ministry of law and justice has issued a new notification, saying that the accountability court would conduct trial of remaining two corruption cases, which include Flagship Investments and AlAzizia Steel Mills, against Sharif and others at the Adiala jail. Accountability court Islamabad judge Muhammad Bashir, who last night issued warrants for the imprisonment of the three-time premier and his political heir, will conduct the trial against the Sharifs in the jail, the report said.
