had received a single bid from the current operator, Indian Hotels Company, On July 9, the second attempt attracted two bids — one from Indian Hotels and the second from ITC.

According to the clause of these two tenders, the auction could have been held only in case of minimum three qualified bids for the asset. This criterion has now been nelawed. Besides this the average reason. rion has now been relaxed. Bes-ides this, the average revenue requirement from prospective bidders has been brought down. The three-year average revenue required now is $3.5 billion as compared to $4 bil-lion earlier. Bidders can include francisles of $50.8 er will. financials of FY18 as well.

NDMC has retained most of the financial expectations from the property. The next operator will have to assure a minimum revenue share of 17.25 per cent and a minimum guarantee fee of ₹29.64 million per month, with a clause for escalation. There is also an unforter perspective them. also an upfront non-refundable fee of ₹533 million. NDMC

The cold respo hotel industry to the first two hotel industry to the first two auctions was unexpected, especially at a time the sector is seeing an uptrend. However, industry experts said it is not an attractive proposition given that a new player will find it challenging to make money after making heavy investments of almost 35 billion in renovating the 40 year-old hotel and committing a minimum income to NDMC.

We have been expanding to Tier-2 and Tier-3 cities. We do understand that in some of these markets, the competition and market profile are not similar to metro-to-metro route. Having said that, we are still avery new airline, which allows us to be flexible and nimble. We will try to understand what the market needs and as we understand, we will offer different products. Just like one of the reason that we came up with a new fare scheme (buyon-board meals), which are more effectively targeted towards such markets. This is the growing segment that wants towards such markets. This phenomenon already began playing out in markets like the US where Amazon is already seeing a major boost to its revenues from ads. In the quarter ended June 31, 2018, Amazon reported $2.2 billion in advertising revenue, a growth of 129 per cent over the same quarter in the previous year. "So, commerce is a big focus for Google, both online and offline. It has done that in China with JD.Com. It is working with Walmart in the US market. It also wanted to invest in Flipkar but that didn't work out," added doubling down its focus on India's consumer space.

"Everyone is seeing India as agrowth market and is trying to put money. But this is happening at a time, when the online retail is still two per cent of the overall retail.
